

Seven persons indicted for robberies, murder

Seven persons accused of crimes committed three years ago in Columbus, have been indicted by a Franklin County grand jury, according to police.

They were indicted on a string of bank and fast food restaurant robberies, including the 1981 shooting death of an Eastside man.

Alfred Warren, 37, and his 25-year-old sister Fanny Hill Warren, of South Bend, Ind., were indicted for two bank robberies and the slaying of Wesley Hampton, 28, whose body was found buried March 30, 1982 at a grave site.

Fanny is reportedly in the U.S. Army at Fort Carson, Colo. Alfred is currently serving time in the Michigan City State Penitentiary. He is accused of participating in the July 16, 1981 robberies of Freedom Federal Savings and Loan, at 1733 W. Fifth Ave. and the Aug. 26, 1981 robbery at Dollar Savings, 2344 E. Fifth Ave.

William "Bo" Howell, a South Bend native, was indicted on two counts of bank robbery. He is an inmate of a federal prison in Chicago, Ill.

Community mourns loss of three kids, mom killed in flash fire

By TED OSHODI

More than 200 people gathered Wednesday in the sanctuary of Rehoboth Temple, 1111 E. Long St. to mourn the loss of three children and a woman who died Nov. 23 when an early morning flash fire engulfed their Eastside home several hours after the Thanksgiving dinner.

Lindell Revels, 33, her son Melchizek, 7, and her daughter, Artista, 6, perished in the blaze. The fourth person, Jedidah Slaughter, 7, Lindell's nephew, who had been in critical condition at Children's Hospital, died Monday. They were all overcome by heat and smoke while trying to escape.

A faulty extension cord apparently started the fire, according to a spokesperson for the Columbus Fire Department.

Three of Lindell's five children, Adella, 14, Tia-Rey, 12 and Barlin, 3 escaped the burning two-story structure at 463 Hanley St.

Ms. Slaughter, 33, Lindell's twin sister, who was visiting, also escaped. She suffered a sprained ankle.

Two years ago, three Southside children lost their lives in a fire that razed their home.

Kevin Ellinger, disaster specialist, Columbus Chapter of the American Red Cross, said the program has been called to 354 residential fires, between January and October of this year.

Ellinger said the Red Cross has already provided clothing and food to surviving members

Musical chairs at City Hall; Fran Ryan bumps Ako Kambon

By GILBERT PRICE

One Columbus City Council "first" will soon disappear, as Fran Ryan plans to return to her position as city clerk, bumping Ako Kambon back to his slot as assistant to Council President Jerry Hammond.

Kambon was appointed in June to replace Ryan, becoming the first Black to serve as city clerk.

Ryan left the clerk's post to fill the unexpired term of Franklin County Commissioner Harold M. Cooper. She was defeated in her effort to gain a full four year term as county commissioner in the Nov. 6 election by Republican city councilwoman Dorothy S. Teater.

Election results have Black Dems 'troubled'

WASHINGTON -- Ronald Reagan's historic landslide defeat of Walter F. Mondale did more than simply crush the Presidential aspirations of the Democratic ticket. For Blacks, who staunchly and overwhelmingly supported Mondale and the Democratic party, President Reagan's re-election meant that the nation has closed the book on the "New Deal" policies that have galvanized the Democratic party since the first term of Franklin D. Roosevelt, over 50 years ago.

The election results have left Blacks questioning their leaders, troubled about the future and feeling politically isolated from the rest of the country. Political analysts believe that the historic proportions of the Reagan victory shattered not only the hopes of the Mondale candidacy, but also the notion forwarded by Black leaders that the Black vote could provide the margin of victory in national elections. For despite the fact that Blacks delivered 90 to 93 percent of their vote to Mondale, the President swept on to his landslide.

Blacks were also on the losing side in three key races in the South. Mississippi State Rep. Robert Clark and South Carolinian Kenneth Mosley, both running in predominantly Black districts, were defeated in their attempts to unseat white Republican incumbents for the U.S. House of Representatives. And in North Carolina, conservative Republican Sen. Jesse Helms was re-elected despite the fact that Blacks heavily supported his opponent, Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr.

In the Presidential election and the three Congressional races whites voted for the Republican candidates by two-to-one, overwhelming the Black turnout generated by this year's registration drives. Seeing white voters desert the Democratic party raised questions among many Black leaders. "We can't keep voting for them if they have no willingness to vote for us," said Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond, noting that whites seemed to have "turned their backs on Blacks and poor whites."

Other Blacks questioned the Black leadership for continuing to bring in the Black bloc vote to the Democrats to no avail. Black conservative author Walter Williams said "the election highlights the bankrupt strategy of the Black leadership that has delivered the entire Black vote to Democrats with no discernible benefits. My guess is that the Democrats, in order to restructure their party, will have to dump Blacks."

Indeed, the chairman of the Mississippi Democratic Party, Steve Patterson, recently stated in a letter to other state party leaders, "We must let Franklin Roosevelt rest in peace." The Democrats courted broad voter rejection, he said, if it continues to be identified with special interest groups, programs of "income redistribution" and maintained the image as the party of the needy.

Though he denied he intended the party to abandon the interests of Black voters, Patterson did say he believed that the party's image as the home of the needy failed to address the "optimism of the baby boomers" who live in a "world of personal computers, expanding opportunities and exploding high tech industries."

There is the fear now that Democratic party leaders, in order to gain back its white supporters, will seek a new direction, possibly becoming more conservative in its appeal. The Rev. Jesse Jackson discounted the possibility

Half million more Blacks voted in South this year than in '80

(LOUISIANA WEEKLY) NEW ORLEANS--Results of a Voter Education Project (VEP) study indicate that an estimated 3,291,000 Blacks voted in the South during the 1984 election day. This represents an estimated increase of 3,000 over the estimated 23,000 who voted in the general election in 1980. These estimates are based upon a preliminary examination of the returns from 120 predominantly Black precincts in eight Southern states.

The increase in Black turnout is due both to the increase in the size of the Black voting population and to the efforts of many registration drives in the South during the year. While the Black voting age population grew by an estimated 11.0 percent between 1980 and 1984, the best figures available indicate that the number of Blacks registered 24.6 percent during the same time span, with the overwhelming bulk of that increase occurring during the twelve months prior to the election.

While there may have been a small decline in the proportion of registered Blacks who voted from an estimated 64 percent in 1984, it was more than offset by the gain in registrants. This resulted in an increase in the proportion of the vote from 35.7 percent in 1980 to 36.9 percent in 1984 according to VEP estimates.

Of those Blacks who voted for one of the two major presidential candidates, an estimated 95.5 percent cast their votes for Walter Mondale, while an estimated 4.5 percent cast their votes for Ronald Reagan. Mondale received at least 94.5 percent of the Black votes in each of the eight states in the study (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee), according to VEP estimates.

The preliminary study also included comparisons of the returns in Atlanta from a sampling of 16 predominantly Black and eight predominantly white precincts. In the sample precincts, 66.0 percent of the registered Blacks voted whereas 69.4 percent of the vote which went to the two major candidates.

Some confusion was reported in Georgia about the use of the ballot, particularly about how to vote for presidential electors. The confusion may account for the waste of a small but significant portion of the ballots of those who went to the polls. The waste in Atlanta sample was much greater in the Black precincts than in the white precincts. In the Black precincts, 9.1 percent of the ballots were wasted; in the white precincts 3.9 percent of the ballots were wasted.

LANDSCAPE AWARD TO MT. VERNON PLAZA--The Mt. Vernon Plaza Focal Point in Columbus has received a 1984 Merit Award from the Ohio Chapter, American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA). The project, designed by Edsall and Associates of Columbus, was recognized during ceremonies held Oct. 27 at the Ohio Statehouse, State Senate President Harry Meshel bestowed the award. The project was one of 29 submissions for award consideration. Representatives of the Kentucky Chapter, ASLA evaluated the submission. Deborah Edsall (middle in photo) accepted the award on behalf of the organization from Senator Meshel. Also pictured are Daisy Flowers, former chairperson of the CD Task Force (second from left), Ralph Smithers, executive director of Neighborhood Development Corporation, and John Edsall (right).

A gift of giving

Each year as the Christmas season approaches, urgent appeals go out to the public for those who are fortunate to share with the less fortunate.

If the heavy turnout at churches and shelters for free Thanksgiving dinners is any indication, people indeed are hungry and in need of assistance.

During the holiday season, self-help organizations, such as CALL and CMACAO, food pantries, and churches are flooded with requests for assistance. Oftentimes, because of limited funds, those requests go unheeded.

This year, we are joining with other organizations and asking that we extend our hand just a little farther to our fellow man.

In the spirit of giving, the employees of the Columbus CALL & POST have chosen to adopt a family for the holiday season. The family will be chosen through a local social service agency.

We are issuing a challenge to other Black businesses, local churches, and private individuals to follow suit and adopt a family and let their actions be known, for they can serve to inspire others.

Contributions can also be made to other worthy causes such as the Franklin County Children Services Wish List Program, The Columbus Citizen Journal Adopt-A-Family program or local food pantries. If in doubt, check with your church and follow their lead.

Sloppy police work?

The 1981 slaying of Janice Beidleman and her 21-month-old son Brandon remains unsolved, but is it unsolved because of a lack of suspect or an inept police investigation?

In the Nov. 8 edition of the CALL & POST, Columbus Police Lt. Ralph Casto said the unsolved murders were "rather frustrating and shocking"... "especially with the number of hours invested in trying to find the person responsible for the crime."

The Beidleman family was found dead Sept. 14, 1981, near Alum Creek and Agler Rd., near the Bridgeview Golf Course.

In three years, police have made no arrests, and state that the investigation is continuing.

An ex-Columbus Black police officer who was called in to assist the all-white homicide detectives with the investigation maintains that he uncovered sufficient facts, evidence and a motive that identified a suspect.

The officer wrote in a letter to the CALL & POST and high ranking city officials that "there was testimony on my behalf from Det. Sgt. Wm. Steckman (former homicide sgt.) who testified before (former) Safety Director Bernard Chupka that substantial information that may result in an indictment in the near future had been obtained through my investigation and clearly pointed to a suspect."

The officer said that Sgt. Steckman signed an affidavit supporting the facts and another high ranking officer was aware of the investigation.

The ex-officer is going public with his part in the investigation because he sincerely believes that a cover-up is in progress.

We think the officer, who worked intimately on the case, has raised key questions that can no longer go unanswered. We demand that the Columbus Police Department immediately give a public accounting of the Beidleman case.

Heard for City Council

Rarely does the Columbus City Council have the opportunity to do something which is both right and proper as well as politically expedient. But, now the Council, led by President Jerry Hammond, has that chance—to choose Loretta Heard as a member of City Council.

Loretta Heard is a distinguished citizen of the Columbus community. She is former city-wide president of the Columbus PTA, and is actively involved in numerous Columbus civic groups. Her broad popularity—which cuts across lines of race and class—is self-evident in the fact that she, an active Democrat, was endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties in her first run for public office, as a member of the Columbus School Board. She won that 1981 race, finishing first in a crowded field.

We have heard that some feel the City Council seat, vacated because of the election of council member Dorothy Teater to the Board of County Commissioners, is a "white woman's seat." Such stereotyping, in this day, odious—the qualifications of a person like Heard should not be discounted merely because she is of a different hue than some of her competitors.

And, this stereotyping seems to attempt to achieve, for white women, what the worst opponents of affirmative action charge is done for Blacks—the choice of a candidate without regard to qualifications, but solely on the basis of skin color.

This is not to attack the qualifications of those who have been prominently mentioned as candidates. Yet none of the candidates mentioned—with the possible exception of former council member and former City Clerk Fran Ryan—have the stature and record of accomplishment and concern for the community that Loretta Heard has demonstrated over the years. And, none of the other candidates mentioned can say, as Loretta Heard can, that she has not been defeated in her run for political office.

The choice of Loretta Heard for City Council will give to council a person of both proven political skills and proven concern for the citizens of the city. She is a person who, while actively a Democrat, has been able to rise above partisanship to become a respected spokesperson for the Columbus Public Schools.

And, she will provide the council with a linkage to those public schools—those schools which will be a crucial key to the future of Columbus. It is for all these reasons that we heartily endorse the choice of Loretta Heard for Council, and urge City Council to rise above selfishness and narrowness of vision and ratify that choice.

CPR saves lives

One half million people die each year from heart attacks in the United States. According to the American Heart Association more than half of these deaths are due to a lack of prompt emergency medical treatment.

You can learn cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), a skill that could save a life and help curb these statistics.

"People can be trained to act quickly and effectively in an emergency situation," says Victor A. Morant, M.D., chairman of the American Heart Association, Northeast Ohio Affiliate Emergency Cardiac Care Committee.

Dr. Morant explains, "Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), is a proven lifesaving technique that combines mouth-to-mouth breathing and closed chest compressions. If CPR is begun within minutes of the heart's failure the victim's chances for long-term survival are greatly increased."

If properly trained in CPR, rescuers could take the initiative to begin the technique in any emergency situation—heart attack, electrocution, drowning or drug abuse.

The Heart Association reminds people that a situation requiring CPR can arise in any setting—at work, at home, at play. For more information and a schedule of upcoming CPR classes call the American Heart Association, Northeast Ohio Affiliate at (216) 791-7500, for the training location nearest you.

Capital punishment: justifiable homicide?

By CHARLES E. COBB

The question we should all ask ourselves with the execution in North Carolina of Mrs. Margie Barfield is this: was her execution any less barbaric because it was done painlessly? Does the fact that she was first put to sleep and then murdered by the state make that murder any more humane?

It is a question we must ask now, because following Mrs. Barfield's execution will surely come a rash of executions across this nation. If this country can execute a 52-year-old white grandmother, the 1,420 people now on death row are as good as dead. According to the Legal Defense Fund, of these 1,420 condemned prisoners, 597—or 42 percent—are Black. Further, 75 of these inmates—or 5.3 percent—are Hispanic. These are frightening figures.

For those who follow the Judeo-Christian ethic, their position on the issue of capital punishment must be guided by its teachings: "Thou shalt not kill" and "Vengeance is mine saith the Lord" are words which cannot be easily ignored.

For some, however, these teachings may seem inadequate to the horrors of our daily life. Should not a vicious murderer or child molester be subjected to the ultimate punishment? Aren't there some crimes for which only death is an appropriate societal response?

The answer must be a resounding "no." Capital punishment is inherently evil and not just for the usual reasons. Certainly by murdering another human being we ourselves become murderers. Just as certainly by taking another's life we commit an act which is only within God's purview, thus negating the idea that redemption is ever a possibility. On still another level, it has long been known that the killing of convicted murderers overwhelmingly favors the rich white defendant over the poor Black or Hispanic defendant. This inequity has become particularly glaring since the Reagan Administration began dismantling the nation's Public Defender's offices, which offer the poor their only means for legal counsel.

The execution of another human being harkens back to the burnings of suspected witches in the town square of Salem, Massachusetts. Like those burnings, the current executions will one day be seen as equally barbaric and uncivilized. Until that time, however, we will continue to teach our children, with each pull of the lever and each plunge of the syringe, that murder is justified when committed by the state under "humane" conditions.

ings may seem inadequate to the horrors of our daily life. Should not a vicious murderer or child molester be subjected to the ultimate punishment? Aren't there some crimes for which only death is an appropriate societal response?

The answer must be a resounding "no." Capital punishment is inherently evil and not just for the usual reasons. Certainly by murdering another human being we ourselves become murderers. Just as certainly by taking another's life does nothing to stop others from committing the same vile acts.

Yet, there is an even more compelling reason to end capital punishment. It is that the possibility of error always exists. Consider the many convicted murderers and armed robbers, like Lenell Jeter in Texas, whose convictions were overturned only after they were fortunate enough to have their cases re-examined.

Consider, too, the inequity of a criminal justice system which

National Black legislators plan ambitious agenda

The politicians and those interested in Black politics on the state level should mark down Nov. 28 through Dec. 2 on their calendars. There, in Los Angeles, will be a seminal event: the flexing of muscles of the National Conference of Black State Legislators, which will meet to develop a national agenda to be acted upon in the state legislatures.

Maryland State Sen. Clarence Mitchell III, chairman of the NCBSL, told THE CALL & POST recently that the state legislators, coming to Los Angeles from 44 different states, will develop "five or six model pieces of legislation," which will be introduced simultaneously in state capitols across the country. The bills will address issues such as minority business development (probably recommending some minority set-aside, hidden in the glare of activity surrounding the Congressional Black Caucus. Mitchell believes they have been overlooked "because we confined ourselves to state issues in our hidden in the glare of activity surrounding the Congressional Black Caucus. Mitchell believes they have been overlooked "because we confined ourselves to state issues in our states." However, Mitchell also argues that the group has now "begun to reach out on national issues" that affect Black people, and is attempting to make its presence felt more intensely—both in their own state capitols and in Washington.

The policies of the Reagan administration are unwittingly enhancing the importance and credibility of all Black state legislators. The president's "New Federalism" which calls for a return of many programs to the states which were previously federally-funded, was blunted by Congressional action but is still very much alive.

Even now, many programs which were operated with tight federal strings—such as job training, community redevelopment, education, and maternal and child health programs—are largely being administered by the states, with state policies only having to meet broad federal guidelines to be approved.

But these funds were not given to the states without problem: in 1981, 53 distinct federal programs were folded into 10 block grants—with funding cut by at least 25 percent for each block grant. Thus, state governors and legislators were forced to develop priorities for the use of scarce dollars, in a system which often pitted worthy service providers against each other for a sliver of a shrinking pie.

Clearly, as the battleground for policy development in human services shifts from the federal government to the 50 state legislatures, the role of the Black state legislators as protectors of the rights of Black people increases dramatically. And, aware of this, Mitchell recognizes the need for a national consensus among state legislators over the broad issues that affect Black people—and the development or enhancement of state "Black Caucuses" to meet the expanded challenge.

Mitchell says that "Ohio is kind of a model" in developing the Black Caucus concept. Ohio's caucus, the Black Elected Democrats of Ohio, was formed three years prior to the Congressional Black Caucus. Mitchell is convinced that "Ohio is doing the kind of things that other states can emulate."

As the focus of concern shifts from the national to the state government, it is critical to know that Black legislators in Ohio are in positions where their voices can be heard on the major issues affecting Black people.

response to fireman

Editor:
In response to the editorial submitted by Lt. James J. McNamee of the Cleveland Fire Department, I feel that an investigation of the Fire Department's transfer procedure is in order. Lt. Gay's transfer request to the Fire Department was not ignored. The Fire Department has given the same consideration to all other applicants. Seniority must be considered and Lt. Gay did not. As per our Labor Contract, the Senior Lieutenant receives the assignment. The Fire Department's EEO investigated the complaint but found that the allegations did not warrant further investigation. Lt. Gay is entitled to the regular grievance procedure available to all Cleveland Fire Department firefighters. It was the choice of Lt. Gay not to use it.

All personnel of the Cleveland Fire Department are treated in a fair and equal manner. The fact is that Lt. Gay chose not to utilize the grievance procedure.

Sincerely,
James J. McNamee, Chief
Division of Fire, Cleveland

endorsement appreciated

Editor:
With the '84 election behind me, I take this opportunity to thank you for expressing support of my candidacy in the election. I am proud of the accomplishments of my campaign over the past four years. I know they share my deep appreciation for your "vote" of confidence, as well as that of voters of Franklin County. I am assured we will work hard in the months ahead to earn your continuing support, representing the victims of crime through a careful and deliberate approach to each case that comes before this office.

Again, thank you for your endorsement.

addressing the needs of the handicapped

Editor:

The special problems of the physically and mentally handicapped child are widespread and difficult to address. There are thousands of such individuals in the State of Ohio and it is absolutely vital that State government is motivated to address their needs.

While attending a recent meeting of the Governor's Special Education Advisory Council, it was very gratifying to hear of the level of support Celeste administration is giving to the problems of special education and to education in general in Ohio. That meeting was addressed by the Director of Ohio County Handicapped Children's Programs and by the Assistant State Educational Superintendent.

My interest and concern with these matters date back to the late 30's when I was director of an out-of-school youth program for Black youth in the State of Kentucky. (In those days such programs were segregated by race.) The program was sponsored by the National Youth Administration which also had such programs in various other states.

I find that many citizens of Ohio know very little of the special problems of this segment of our population. We are very fortunate in this State to have an administration, from the Governor on through, that recognizes these problems and provides ample support to address them.

Sincerely,
Elmer C. Collins

HB 6203 needed to help Ethiopia

Editor:

Now that the famine in Ethiopia has been deemed "news-worthy" by the national media, and people are asking what an individual can do, I want to share some thoughts.

First of all, this drought and emergency did not suddenly happen. As early as October of 1983, Bread for the World, a Christian citizens' movement against hunger, was trying to alert Congress of the need for action. Congress has been very slow to respond, finally approving $150 million specifically for African food aid and $16 million for non-food aid this past summer. This amount was allocated for the 1984 fiscal year which ended October 1.

To put some perspective on this figure, consider that this money which is needed to keep literally millions of people alive is less than the supplemental military aid given to El Salvador in the past year. Unfortunately the drought in Ethiopia has been three years running, and there is no possibility of harvests until November 1985. Also keep in mind that this famine is not confined to Ethiopia, and more than 150 million people in 30 countries are at risk in the coming months.

Recently publicized reports indicate that the U.S. government is spending $3 million a day in aid to famine victims. This aid was allocated for the entire fiscal year 1985. So only one and a half months into that fiscal year, reports are that the United States has already spent all money appropriated for all famine relief for the entire year. It is important to note that our government has allocated less food aid for Africa during fiscal year 1985 than was spent in 1984, even though the situation is worsening.

Looking closer at our government policies we see that during the period from 1981 to 1983 our government's military aid to African governments more than doubled while our food aid to Africa was cut by more than a third. This large scale militarization of African governments, with encouragement and large scale support by our government, has been clearly at the expense of agricultural development and support of the countries' food producers.

It is no secret that the political climate in many African countries is not only an obstacle to getting relief supplies where they are needed, but also a factor in the enormity of hunger. Governments' actions or inactions on both sides of the Atlantic, whether or not we like it, are critically important in the short and long term pictures. Therefore, there is much that we who are American citizens can do.

A bill has been introduced into Congress (H.R. 6203, the African Relief and Recovery Act) which addresses short term relief aid and recovery for Africans in the next year. It would add $265 million for food and $185 million for non-food famine relief and recovery efforts. This bill has not been supported by the Administration and will be reintroduced in January.

While our voluntary contributions to private relief organizations are sorely needed, the responsibility and role of government in addressing the larger issues is also crucial. Let us urge our elected Congressmen to represent our concerns and hopes for the African peoples. We can do this by specifically asking them to cosponsor and support the above mentioned bill. Know that our letters as well as our dollars have the power to accomplish much good!

Important legislation passed

Dear Editor:

As Vice-Chair of The Congressional Black Caucus, I am writing to let you know of an important civil rights measure that passed in the closing hours of the 98th Congress. That measure, S. 86, the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984, mandates equal employment opportunity in the Cable industry as part of an overall national framework for the regulation of cable television.

Equal employment opportunity is particularly important in the mass media, where who is behind the camera and in the front office has a profound effect on the portrayal of minorities and women. S. 86 recognizes this critical fact, and establishes in statute that cable television operators may not discriminate on the basis of race or sex, and must maintain affirmative action programs to ensure equal opportunity in every aspect of their employment practices.

In addition, S. 86 requires the Federal Communications Commission to periodically investigate each cable operator to ensure compliance with the equal employment opportunity provisions of the law. As part of its responsibility to investigate, the FCC is expected to conduct random on-site inspections of cable operators' EEO programs. Violators will be punished by a daily fine of $200, and repeated violations could lead to the denial of a cable operator's request to renew his or her franchise.

The equal employment opportunity provisions of S. 86 constitute one of the few advances in civil rights made during the Reagan Administration, coming only days after efforts to overturn the Supreme Court's Grove City ruling were defeated in the Senate. S. 86 is the first and only industry-specific equal employment legislation since Title VII was enacted in the 1960s.

The ultimate success of S. 86 is due in no small measure to the efforts of Ohio's Senator Howard Metzenbaum. During the hectic final week that Congress was in session, Senator Metzenbaum and I worked closely together to ensure that meaningful EEO standards remained a part of the bill. I am pleased to report that we succeeded.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,
MICKEY LELAND
Member of Congress

In Defense of Judge Mosely

Dear Editor:

Your (George Jordan, Plain Dealer) continual attacks on Judge Fred Mosely of our fair city (East Cleveland) reminds me of one Uncle Milton Coleman. May your fate be the same as his will soon be.

All praises to Allah.

Too much negative news

Dear Editor:

East Cleveland has a lot of positive things going on. Every city has its problems and good points. Everytime you, (The Plain Dealer) publishes an article concerning East Cleveland it is negative. Judge Mosely has helped a lot of people in East Cleveland. You, (The Plain Dealer) never print the good things he has done for people.

Blood donors saved a life

Dear Editor:

We don't know how to express in words our gratitude to all of you who have given blood in honor of our daughter, Jackie. We only know that simply saying "thank you" to someone who gave a part of themselves in order to help our child and many others lives is just not enough. Most people seem to take each day of their life for granted. For Jackie, each day is very precious, for we realize that it is only the blood that she is constantly receiving which is keeping her alive while she waits for a liver donor.

Most of you have never even met Jaclyn and yet were willing to donate blood in her honor. You are all very special people. We will never forget your generosity, and pray that Jaclyn is able to grow up so that she can personally thank you for helping to save her life!

Joe and Carol Cerny,

Standards are important

Dear Editor:

This past week the Alexandria, Virginia school board voted to require student athletes participating in varsity sports to maintain a C average in order to remain eligible for their chosen sport.

Applause and thanks are in order for the members of the board. Much controversy surrounded the debate on this issue based on the concerns that such an action would lead some to transfer to schools with less stringent academic standards or simply drop out. Such concerns are probably not without merit, however, "students" (athletes) who would follow such a strategy and parents who would allow it, are not deserving of any sympathy.

In recent years, college recruiters and coaches have borne the brunt of criticism for abusing these athletes, and with cause. However, it is past time that we begin to hold student athletes and their parents accountable for their failure to properly prepare for a world that has a short scoreboard or statistical memory.

Preparing for a professional sport is fine, but everyone doesn't make it and those that do must still prepare for life when the cheering stops.

As a former high school and college football player, I am most appreciative of the teachings of my parents who emphasized the importance of an education beyond blocking or tackling. I know many of my peers are equally grateful.

Only a few reached the professional level and none, to my knowledge, signed megabuck contracts. For those of us who lacked the necessary skills, an education provided opportunities in other areas, areas that could carry us through a lifetime.

If the Columbus Public Schools, have not instituted such a standard, they should do so without delay. Our world requires education and student athletes should receive no special dispensation.

Sincerely,
David H. Lynch
Executive Assistant, Columbus

Expressing appreciation

Dear Editor:

I just want to take a moment of your time to express to you my appreciation for taking the time to meet with me, consider my candidacy and then of course to endorse my candidacy for the Common Pleas Court.

I believe you know I am someone who is always available to discuss any matters of community interest with you or other media representatives in Columbus.

Let me reiterate that I am interested in serving all the people fairly and impartially and I am always open to discuss special problems should any arise. Let me assure you that I will work hard to merit the confidence you have placed in me.

Very truly yours,
George C. Smith,
Judge-Elect

A time to share

Dear Editor:

Greetings of this blessed season from the Good Shepherd Family. The needs of our girls and boys are many and great. Through the years, Rosemont Center has been able to meet many of those needs because friends like you have helped in response to our Christmas Appeal.

Will you allow yourself to share in the work of the Good Shepherd Sisters who have served troubled youth in the Columbus area since 1865? We not only help the youngsters, but extend our multiple community services to their families, thus helping them keep their families intact.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd are grateful for any donation. In return, we offer you continued remembrance in daily prayer. The Lord reminds us He cannot be outdone in generosity. We believe Him. Do you? If so, we'd appreciate your offering or your check made out to Sister of the Good Shepherd. Of course, this offering is tax deductible.

God bless you as only He can.

Most gratefully,
Sisters of the Good Shepherd,
Sister M. Elise Kramer, R.G.S.,

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT

San Francisco Mime Troupe at OSU; Lena, Dionne, Johnny on Channel 34

By JOHN E. JONES JR.

The San Francisco Mime Troupe will make its Columbus debut at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 8 at Erskin Hall on the campus of Ohio Dominican College, 1216 Sunbury Rd.

The group, in its 25th year, will present their new play, Steeltown, about plant closures and the vanishing American dream. It looks at real people and real situations, depicting "Where We Are Today", as well as "How It Is We Got There."

Tickets are available at the door or at Fan the Flames, 65 S. 4th St., Tradewinds, 1652 N. High St., Monkeys Retreat, 2400 N. High St., and at all CTO Outlets. For information on group rates call 262-5370 or 291-4128.

The event is sponsored by Good Friends Productions, a non-profit production company, with the support of the Ohio Arts Council.

Lena Home: The Lady and Her Music, the longest-running one-woman show in Broadway history, will be seen at 9:05 p.m., Friday, Dec. 7 on WOSU-TV, Channel 34.

Johnny Mathis will be presented in concert on WOSU-TV, Channel 34 at 7:55 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 1, to be followed by Dionne Warwick at 9:28 p.m.

(The odd starting times fit in the WOSU-TV fund raising efforts.)

WOSU-TV expands its When TV Was Young package of classic American television programs with the premiere of a new anthology series titled Golden Years of Television.

The Golden Years series presents full-length episodes of some of the most beloved drama, comedy and variety shows of the 1950s and 1960s. Included in the 21 separate programs are segments from such immortal series as the Milton Berle Show, The Ed Sullivan Show, The Colgate Comedy Hour, This Is Your Life, Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts, Life With Father, The Jack Benny Show, Space Patrol, Andy's Gang, Mr. Peepers, Sky King, Howdy Dowdy, Topper and the $64,000 Question.

The series premieres at 7 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 8 with one of the most celebrated episodes from The Ed Sullivan Show. Half of Elvis Presley makes his infamous television debut. Presley will be seen from the waste up. He gyrated too much for folks then. Today, probably only the gyrations would be telecast. But, TV was young in those days.

Black Wings, the story of the American Black in aviation, continues through Dec. 23 at the Ohio Historical Center, 1985 Veima Ave.

Vocal auditions for Vaud-Villities 1985 will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 2 and at 8 p.m., Monday, Dec. 3 at First Community Church, 1320 Cambridge Blvd.

Male voices are especially needed, according to publicists Jerry Smith and Virginia Frick.

Dance auditions will be held at 1 p.m., and 7 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 9 and at 7 p.m., Monday, Dec. 10 at Battelle Memorial Institute cafeteria, 505 King Ave., building 11.

Jazz, interpretive, tap, and break dancing will be audioned at all three sessions. Dancers must be 17 years old or expect to be graduated from high school by Jan. 1 to be eligible. The new release encourages dancers to wear proper dance attire.

Vaud-Villities 1985 will be presented April 17 through 20 at Vets Memorial. The theme is "The Best of Times", and you can expect to hear the song of the same name from La Cage aux Folles.

Walker-Taylor named to boards

WILBERFORCE, OHIO — Wilberforce University President Yvonne Walker-Taylor has recently been elected and/or appointed to several local and state boards. She has been named to the Board of the Afro-American Museum by Ohio Governor Richard Celeste.

Walker-Taylor was also elected the first female board member of the Unity State Bank in Dayton. Eight people serve on that board under the direction of Chairman Howard C. Smith.

The third board appointment for Walker-Taylor is for Oesterlen Services for Youth, Inc. in Springfield. She was appointed to serve on the 20-member Board of Trustees by the Ohio Synod of Lutheran Churches Executive Board.

THERE IS HUNGER IN THE LAND—Stick-like, emaciated children are so weakened by hunger that there is no laughter in the camps where they come to receive aid. The Ethiopian Emergency Relief Fund is trying to raise $10,000 from Dec. 1-15 to relieve some of the suffering in Africa.

Relief of hunger in Ethiopia goal of fund raising drive

A two-week fund-raising drive to relieve hunger in Ethiopia will kick-off Saturday, Dec. 1, with a "Prayer Un-brother" at Aldersgate United Methodist Church, 385 Miller Ave., 10 a.m.

The church has joined with several organizations and has enlisted volunteers to canvass the city and solicit funds for the emergency food shortage in Ethiopia brought on by drought and other economic conditions.

"We have made a commitment to fast and pray on Dec. 1 and we are inviting everyone to join us as we try to respond to this crisis situation in Africa," said Rev. Ruby D. Hill, pastor of Aldersgate.

It is estimated that 900,000 Ethiopians will perish from hunger by the end of the year, said Rev. James Chapman, co-chairman of the Ethiopian Emergency Hunger Relief Fund.

Twenty-five African countries are also in dire need, Rev. Chapman said, adding, "we are not ignoring the other pressing needs on the continent. We are just starting with the emergency in Ethiopia."

The goal is to raise $10,000 from December 1-16.

The drive will culminate Sunday, December 16 with "A Song For Ethiopia," a gospel praise service at Aldersgate, 3:30 p.m.

Special musical guests include the Bernard Upshaw Singers, Dennis Freeman Community Choir, and the New Life Singers.

Contributions may be sent to Ethiopian Emergency Hunger Relief Fund, Aldersgate UMC, P.O. Box 7098, Columbus, Ohio 43205.

Simultaneous Revival Choir Christmas kick-off, Dec. 7

By REV. A. WILSON WOOD
The Simultaneous Revival Choir, preparing to kick off the Christmas season, is presenting one of John Peterson's most outstanding Christmas Cantatas, "The Night the Angels Sang" on Friday evening, December 7 at 7:30 in the Sanctuary of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, 428 East Main St. The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Booth is the host pastor.

Now that the Thanksgiving Holiday is past and the Christmas season swiftly closing in upon us, and Christian America recognizing the importance of celebrating the greatest event ever in all Christendom, the Revival Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Frances R. Pace of Bethany Baptist, and consisting of more than one hundred voices, is rapidly preparing to engage in the never ending symphony of praising God for giving to our world a Saviour whose birth has changed the culture of our day and set in motion the wonderful spirit of joy and Thanksgiving in homes and churches throughout the universe.

Christmas is a time for rejoicing, and the Baptist Pastors'

Archbishop Weakland to address conference of community leaders

A unique Conference on the Economic Crisis sponsored by religious leaders will bring 500 government, business, labor and unemployed representatives from nine Great Lakes and Appalachian states to Cleveland Dec. 7-9.

The Conference has been planned by The Ecumenical Great Lakes/Appalachian Project on the Economic Crisis and sponsored by a coalition of six religious denominations and associated agencies including Councils of Churches in several states.

The region's unemployment rate is running above the national average and is rising. A lower percentage of the unemployed are covered by unemployment compensation than any time in the history of the unemployment compensation program. More than two million persons are out of work in the nine states involved which are Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Among prominent religious participants in the Conference are Archbishop Rembert C. Weakland of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, who chairs the Bishop's Committee preparing to release the first draft of a pastoral on economic justice, and Bishop John H. Burt, Chairman of the Coalition of Episcopal Urban Bishops.

Representatives of all Governor's offices and delegations from state legislatures are expected to attend the Conference as well as The Honorable John Conyers, Jr., U.S. House of Representatives, 1st District Michigan, The Honorable Richard G. Hatcher, Mayor of Gary, Indiana and The Honorable George Voinovich, Mayor of Cleveland, Ohio.

The Conference starting point will be studies prepared by three task forces based in Cleveland, Chicago and Lexington. These document the nature of the economic crisis and its human consequences and also provide moral and theological perspective. The Conference will consider a wide range of policy alternatives in the areas of investment, industry, agriculture, labor and income support.

The purpose of the Conference is to bring together people of all faiths and economic levels from government, labor, industry and the religious community to focus on the economic crisis and plan specific actions for building economic justice.

GO GREYHOUND. AMERICA'S GREAT TRAVEL VALUE.

There are a lot of good reasons why Greyhound is America's great travel value. Start with our price. Greyhound has a low, low fare to just about anywhere you want to go.

Now check out our schedules. Greyhound is America's number one transportation company, going more places more often than anybody else. That's convenience you can count on.

You can also count on Greyhound drivers. With an average of over 14 years of service, they're the most experienced in the business. Just sit back in one of our big, reclining seats and let us show you how comfortable and trouble free travel can be.

Low fares, service, comfort and experience. When you add them all up, you'll know why Greyhound is still America's great travel value.

Black Book Club offers catalogue

The Black Book Club is designed to help persons ease the difficulty in finding books on the Black experience. Most book stores have few, if any, Black books.

The Black Book Club's 1985 catalog has one of the most comprehensive selections of books about the Black experience.

Norine Dunnville, the club's president, started The Black Book Club in 1982. Today she has customers from almost every state and Canada. The Black Book Club does not ship books unless specifically ordered by the customers.

To obtain a copy of the catalogue, write The Black 1 Book Club, P.O. Box 40X, Fanwood, N.J., 07023.

DEMONSTRATORS ARRESTED—Three nationally prominent Blacks were arrested Thanksgiving Eve after staging a sit-in at the South African Embassy in Washington, D.C. The protesters sought to win the release of 13 Black labor leaders being held by the South African government. Arrested were, from left, Walter Fauntroy, Washington, D.C. congressional delegate, Mary Frances Berry, a member of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission; and Randall Robinson, director of TransAfrica, a Black lobbying group. While the trio was inside the embassy, about 30 demonstrators marched quietly nearby.

GRAPEVINE

Let's enter flag flap: Buck flies racist banner

By JOHN E. JONES JR.

There's been furor of late about the flying of the flag of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam at Port Columbus International Airport.

The flag, it is said, is an insult to all Vietnam veterans.

Mayor Buck Rinehart is still flying the flag of South Africa, which is an insult to Black folk throughout the world. Maybe that flag should be taken down, too. What do you say, Buck?

JUDGE ESPY?—Gov. Richard F. Celeste has a couple of judicial decisions to make soon. There's a rumor going around that Councilman Ben Espy is being thought of for one seat.

SPEAKING OF JUDGES—There was a ghost in the office of C&P boss Amos H. Lynch the other day. It was G.M. Judge, whom we thought of as a late columnist for this newspaper. Maybe, just maybe, Good Morning Judge might be writing again for THE CALL & POST. Watch for him or her.

POLITICAL SIGNS—The election—thank God—is over. However, there are still too many political signs on vacant buildings and the highways. Maybe there should be a law that says if candidates don't remove signs within fifteen days of an election, they aren't permitted to run for public office for eleven years.

HIGHEST BIDDER—Coworker Mary L. Taylor has two new still-in-the box Cabbage Patch dolls, with certified adoption papers. They are brother and sister. She calls them her children. She might be enticed to part with both of them if properly Bob Barker'd. She calls them her children, but can only remember the name of her son, Joey. A wise-acre in our office said that Kojo Odo might be willing to adopt them. Taylor said that whatever she gets for the dolls will be contributed to a needy family at Christmas. Call her at the C&P on Saturday—224-8123.

GOOD NEWS—The administration of Mayor Dana G. Rinehart wants to make sure that community leaders hear about the good things done at City Hall. The mayor's office sends to community leaders tidbits of good news under the title, "The Rest of the Story." A little Paul Harvey never hurt anyone did it, Buck?

NEWSLETTER—Here's a newsletter of particular interest. It's the National Anti-Klan Network Newsletter, published by the Anti-Klan Education, Inc., P.O. Box 10500, Atlanta, Ga., 30310. Feature item in the Fall edition reads: "Populist: Racists Under Cover."

NEED SPEAKER?—If you need a speaker for your organization you might try one of the following members of the Metropolitan Human Services Commission: George Miller, Mildred Chavous, Irene Radcliff, Charles Saunders, Rev. Leon Troy, or Grayce Williams. The social service network might be a good topic for discussion.

SUCCESSFUL WEEK—The Minority Enterprise Development Week held Oct. 7 through 13 has been termed a success by all participating segments. Small Business Administrator Director, Frank D. Ray presented the SBA Person of the Year award to Henry Wilson Jr. president of Wilson and Associates, a Cincinnati-based architectural engineering firm.

DEFENSE BAKE SALE—A favorite line from an ancient AFL-CIO news letter: "I won't be happy until the Defense Dept. has a bake sale to raise funds."

CHAMPIONS EDUCATION—AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland spoke at a United Negro College Fund reception last month in Washington, D.C. Here's some of what he said: "The trade union movement and the United Negro College Fund have shared a tie that binds for over a century."

You've got what it takes.

Lauch Henry helped find the missing ingredient to educate minority engineers. Money.

Lauchland Henry is a teacher And a scientist. And an engineer. He's genuinely concerned about other people. And he has expressed some of that concern in his participation with the National Fund for Minority Engineering Students.

The fund is a non-profit organization attempting to increase the number of Blacks, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, Mexican-Americans and American Indians enrolled in engineering schools. These under-represented minorities are vital to the growing need for engineers a need that is expected to continue through the mid-1990's.

IBM's social leave program enabled Dr. Henry to take a year's leave to accept the fund. And IBM continued to pay him his full salary.

The National Fund for Minority Engineering Students is a very worthwhile program. The fund is Lauchland Henry thinks so. But most important of all, lots of minority engineering students enrolled at colleges and universities all over the country look to him.

Fund raising salute to OSU cagers set for December 13

BY JANICE D. HAMLET

For the sixth consecutive year the Merry Makers Club of Columbus will host a banquet to introduce Ohio State University's varsity basketball team.

This annual fund-raising banquet will be Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. at the Sheraton Hotel, 50 N. Third St. Proceeds from the event will support scholarships for academically gifted black students at Ohio State.

Athletic Director Rick Bay and Selika Duckworth, a 1984 National Achievement Scholar at Ohio State, will be the keynote speakers.

The appearance of the basketball team has been the main attraction each year, according to Charles McMurray, coordinator of the event. "We thought that this would provide athletes the opportunity to help their fellow students," he said.

Since 1979 the Merry Makers have contributed to Ohio State proceeds totalling $38,226 from the annual banquet, helping to provide scholarships for more than 12 students through the National Achievement Scholarship Program.

"This program allows Black students to compete for scholarships based on test scores. Students who earn the distinction of scoring in the upper one-half percentile receive full academic scholarships to the college of their choice," according to Tom Kolda, university development.

"Corporate, community and individual support helps Ohio State to attract these top scholars. The Merry Makers have done a superb job in supporting this program," Kolda said.

The Merry Makers Club, composed of 35 prominent Black men, was formed in 1926. In response to a need for young Black men to become actively involved in the community, the group has been a long-time supporter of many civic causes in Columbus.

Tickets for the Dec. 13 banquet are $25 per person or $250 per table and can be obtained by calling the Merry Makers Club at 221-9184 or The CALL & POST, 224-8124.

Dr. Plotnick hearing scheduled for Dec. 7

A hearing for a new trial in the case of Dr. Donald Plotnick will be held Friday, Dec. 7 in the court room of Franklin County Common Pleas Judge William Gillie.

Plotnick, free on a $1 million bond, was convicted in 1982 of aggravated arson and extortion.

Plotnick served about two months of his seven to 25 year sentence before being freed on bond.

Franklin County Prosecutor Michael Miller appeared recently before Judge Gillie to request execution of Dr. Plotnick's sentence.

Miller contends that the judge does not have the right to permit Dr. Plotnick to remain free on the $1 million bond.

Judge Gillie is not expected to rule on Miller's request until a decision has been made regarding a new trial.

69-year-old man faces murder trial Dec. 10

A 69-year-old Eastside man, charged with murder in the Oct. 4 shooting death of his roommate, will face a trial, beginning Dec. 10 in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Charles O'Bannon, of 232 N. 21st St. is charged in the slaying of Leroy Eugene Winslow, 42, of the same address.

Homicide detectives said Winslow was shot several times at close range outside a State Liquor Store, 1195 Mt. Vernon Ave. during an argument with O'Bannon over $50, which the victim allegedly owed.

Winslow died of multiple gunshot wounds to the head. O'Bannon, who reportedly

South High senior wins cash award

Michelle Ellison, a senior at South High School, has won a $50 cash award from the Champion Spark Plug Co., Toledo.

Ellison was one of six Columbus-area high school students who won prizes in the "Dollars and Sense of Car Care" essay contest.

Ellison, the only Black winner, concluded her essay with the comment, "Caring for a car can be so simple: just treat it as a good friend. What good is a friendship if you can't rely on it."

BIG award recipients urged to share award with community

Blacks In Government (B.I.G.) National President James R. Rogers Jr., keynote speaker for the first Columbus Chapter B.I.G. banquet, urged award recipients to "carry awards back to the community and recognize those who have also contributed."

Rogers, a graduate of the University of Toledo Law School, has been actively involved in B.I.G. since its inception. He said he was overwhelmed by the number of people attending a conference in September 1981 and realized then the importance of such an organization.

Rogers urged B.I.G. members to be unified, have character and know your roots.

"A lot of times the public would have us believe we are a people without character. A lot of times people believe his-story instead of history," he said.

"Don't ever think the dream of freedom started with Dr. Martin Luther King. The first person taken as a slave was the first person who wanted to be free."

We have a responsibility built on foundation on Attucks, Douglas, and millions of Blacks in the country who have a vested interest in the country.

"Don't confuse history with his-story," he urged. "Those are the efforts for the least of us."

"Our responsibility today is we must keep the dream alive," he said.

"The dream of B.I.G. is we will take the time to work together as brothers and sisters to make sure that we keep the dream alive."

"If it wasn't for the least of us there wouldn't be the majority of us. Without the majority of us, the best of us would not have the opportunity to achieve what God has given us," Rogers said.

Black Americans need to change their attitude, Rogers said. "After we get what we want, we sit down for 20 years. Look at your history books."

Award recipients for 1984 were Ben Espy, Theodore H. Turner, Henry T. Flint, Mable Hardeman, Doris Calloway, Stanley Dixon Jr., Colonel John L. Carter, Dr. Phile D. Hale, Amos H. Lynch Sr., Clifford J. Wellington and Ako Kambo.

Walden wins new trial; Judge Reda to step down

Linda Lee Walden, convicted in 1981 for the shotgun slaying of William H. Whitfield III, was granted a new trial Monday, Nov. 19 by Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Frank Reda.

A missing telephone harassment report was found due to the efforts of her mother, Leda.

Walden was released last week from Marysville Reformatory.

receiving threatening telephone calls was not given to her attorneys at the time of the trial.

Judge Reda said he will ask to be excused from hearing the new trial.

A change of venue is expected to be requested by defense attorneys.

"I don't think that report would have made any difference to the jury at that time," said Attorney Al White, who was trial prosecutor. White is now an associate in the law firm of Beatty and Stith.

"She told a number of lies. Her credibility was destroyed. I

Ebony Magazine features Odo, kids; Nanette Reynolds to present concert

Did you see the feature story in Ebony Magazine about Columbus resident Kojo Odo and his 28 children?

Several weeks ago, I was privileged to meet him and his family. He is a remarkable man! The youngsters are typical Black children who happen to have been hard to adopt children.

Presently Odo and his family are in temporary housing and desperately need help from our community. He needs a larger house with 10-12 bedrooms. If you know of such a house for sale please contact CWN Tyree. 228-2543.

There is also a need for volunteers to tutor the youngsters after school. The tutors would need to volunteer one hour per week to work with the children. If your organization would like to help in this effort, call CWN at 228-2543. We need your support to help Kojo and Planting the future.

For over 40 years, the Columbus Foundation has been planting seeds to improve the quality of life in Columbus through funding and support of programs for education, community health care, the arts and humanities, social services, conservation and recreation, and many more.

Grants from the Columbus Foundation have improved reading and writing skills in public schools ... funded outpatient clinics ... assisted neighborhood community development ... brought music, art, and dance to everyone ... helped fight drug abuse among young people ... provided pilot dogs for the blind ... expanded and improved public parks

... helped people find jobs ... and provided college scholarships to help today's young people make a brighter future for all of us.

Throughout its history, the Columbus Foundation has enabled individuals, families, companies, and other organizations to build a better community through charitable gifts and bequests to the Columbus Foundation. Donors may contribute funds for unrestricted use or for specific purposes.

We invite you to call or write for the Columbus Foundation annual report and other information about our continuing activities.

Marburn Academy to present workshop on learning problems

Marburn Academy, 1680 Becket Ave., founded four years ago to meet the needs of children with learning disabilities, will present a workshop, titled "Learning Disabilities and Life Transitions" on Friday, Dec. 7, at the Columbus Parke Hotel, 900 Morse Rd.

The workshop is designed to provide state-of-the-art information about identification and treatment of adjustment problems that disabled people might face in educational, vocational, family and social changes in their lives.

Allan L. Forsythe, headmaster of the school, announced recently the creation of the Midwest Foundation for Learning Disabilities, a center that serves as a model for training, information dissemination, service, and research related to persons with learning disabilities.

For further information about the school and the Midwest Foundation, contact Forsythe at 457-8835.

position as city clerk if she were defeated in the general election. Even after her defeat, her name surfaced as a candidate for the city council position to be vacated by Teater. However Council President Hammond has been quoted as saying, "That was always the plan (that Ryan return to the clerk's job). She called last week and said, 'I'm coming back,' and I said 'Fine.'"

Kambon, who was making approximately $40,000 per year as clerk, will resume his duties as assistant to Hammond. Kambon was making $37,100 before becoming city clerk.

Ryan's return to the clerk's post eliminates her as a major competitor to Loretta Heard's bid to become the first Black woman to serve on Columbus city council. Ryan was one of several names mentioned to be considered for the Teater vacancy when it occurs.

1989. The Governor will then choose one of the Commissioners to serve as chairman.

Expectation is that the new chairman will be appointed in December, to permit the Democratic-controlled Senate to confirm the governor's choice. In January, Republicans will regain control of the Senate, thus giving them the opportunity to hold up confirmation.

Brooks was appointed by Celeste to the PUCO in 1983, shortly after Celeste's inauguration. He has previously served as Director of Public Utilities in the administration of former Columbus mayor Maynard E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner.

Brooks is being challenged for the post by lame-duck State Sen. Michael Schwarzwald, Schwarzwald, who has gained a reputation as an advocate for consumers on utility issues, was defeated for re-election in November, and has made it known that he is interested in the PUCO chairman's slot.

The Governor may appoint one person to replace Del Bane, but is not required to appoint that same person chairman. The nominating committee will make no recommendation on whom the chairman should be.

REGINALD COOKE, JR., has been named legislative aide to Columbus City Councilman Ben Epsy. Cooke, an active member of Rehoboth Temple, received his law degree from Capital University in 1983. He was previously associated with the Ohio Court of Claims. Epsy is the first council member who is not president of city council to have two legislative aides. Cooke says that Epsy trusts him aside because of his assignments, particularly the details of the Summit committee which he chairs and the city budget. Epsy's other aide is Yolanda Comely.

DR. JOHN H. ROSEMOND JR., appointed chief

Dr. John H. Rosemond Jr. is chief of primary care

Dr. John H. Rosemond Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Rosemond Sr., has recently been appointed chief of the department of primary care and community medicine and the family practice service at Winn Army Community Hospital, Ft. Stewart, GA.

Maj. Rosemond is a member of the National Medical Association, a member and fellow in the American Academy of Family Physicians, and a diplomat of the American Board of Family Practice.

His duties will include providing ongoing management of all primary care areas, with responsibility for planning, organizational development, community relations, discipline and supervision over ten physicians, 15 physician assistants, and a large enlisted staff in the Family Practice Clinic, Adult Outpatient Clinic, and the Emergency Room. He also provides comprehensive medical care as the personal family physician for more than 600 military families, including obstetrical, pediatric and minor surgical care.

Dr. Rosemond received his medical degree from Ohio State University College of Medicine in 1979 and his internship and residency at Tripler Army Medical Center, Honolulu, Hawaii.

He enlisted as a private in the U.S. Army in 1966 and was graduated from Officer Candidate School in 1968, and served in Vietnam in 1969.

Buckeye men basketballers working to become 'team'

"Right now we're not a team," says OSU Men's Head Basketball Coach Eldon Miller of his new game-tested players.

"We need more competition under stress to be a team," he added.

The first time out against another squad came last Saturday when the Buckeyes beat

If coaches could get style points, Lafayette's Butch Van Breda Kolff would have set a hard standard to beat. He did a couple of neat "360's", leaps and chair hugs in protesting some of the calls in the game against OSU.

that time, his efforts in the 47-45 last second win will surely lock it up for him.

WILDLIFE NEWS, a publication of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife offers this checklist for those taking advantage of the Ohio deer gun hunting season which runs through Saturday.

1984 Ohio hunting license, 1984 Ohio deer permit, 1984 antlerless deer permit (if you applied for one), gun-either shotgun or single shot muzzle-loading rifle of .38 caliber or larger, ammunition-rifled slugs or single balls only may be used, hunter orange garment-either hat, cap, jacket or vest, warm clothing-hats, gloves, insulated boots, strong sharp knife, 10 feet of rope for dragging your deer, first aid kit.

I don't recall their mentioning anything about venison recipes.

Lafayette College 85-67. They will get some more of the heated competition Saturday when they tipoff against Arkansas in St. John Arena at 7 p.m.

The Razorbacks return only two starters from last year's 25-team 6-11 center Joe Kleine and 6-6 forward Charles Valentine.

While Arkansas is trying to get its backcourt players, that's where Ohio State is most experienced. Ron Stokes, Troy Taylor and Dave Jones will all pile up considerable playing time from the guard positions.

During the opener against Lafayette, Ohio State fans showed their appreciation for -O Brad Sellers and let him know that they're glad to see a big man in the middle.

Coach Miller added words of praise for the performances of Dennis Hopson and Clarence McGee for their first game efforts.

He also noted that Joe Concheck "showed signs of doing good things defensively...he's Sorry, Butch, you'd have scored at least 9.95 in my book.

Hartley High's football team had been strong offensively for most of the year, with David Key leading the running attack.

They were unable to get into gear during Saturday's Division IV State Championship game. Hartley lost the contest to St. Thomas Aquinas by a 23-0 count.

Central State University's football won't be back in the championship round this year. The Marauders suffered a 31-21 setback Saturday against Troy State (Ala.) in Division II action.

Miami University's Hurricanes were more like gentle breezes on the last play of their game against Boston College. Then again, BC quarterback Doug Flutie did his part on the play by airing the ball more than 60 yards.

ON THE TEE

By FRANK GRAVELEY

After a two week vacation and some much needed rest it is a pleasure to be home again. You probably think that to me a vacation means golf everyday, dancing and dining every night, not so; it was work on the house and a trip to Toledo for the Midwest District Of the United Golf Association Midwinter convention, hosted by the Toledo Midwest Golf Club.

The meeting began on Friday afternoon and ended on Sunday evening and in between it was the vital business of how the total of thirty seven different clubs would operate for the next year in all financial matters, better lines of communication, and preparing a better method of conducting the annual Midwest District tournament to be contested in June of 1985 at Sawmill Creek's Championship 18 hole golf course in Huron Ohio, between Toledo and Cleveland. One of the most challenging in the midwest stretching along the shores of Lake Erie, nestled amid wild duck marshes, well trapped greens, magnificent fairways and an abundance of water combine to make an exciting weekend of golf. Make it a must on your golf calendar.

The average weekend golfer wants to come out to the course, stride onto the first tee, take out his driver and blast the ball 250 yards right down the middle. Well this just isn't reality. I wouldn't back myself to do that if I hadn't handled a club for a week. And let's be fair, probably the heaviest thing the average golfer picks up during the week is a knife and fork. So please be sensible and do a little practice before a round. I am not for one moment, suggesting that you get to the course two or three hours before your game and slog away on the practice tee. That isn't necessary. For one thing, you would probably be too tired to even start a round of golf. But a few shots on the practice tee with most of your clubs will pay handsome dividends. You can expect to, and will knock as much as a half dozen shot off your score by doing this.

There is absolutely no excuse for missing a tee shot. Technically it's the easiest shot in the games, and if you think about it, you'll agree. You always hit the ball off a wooden tee so there is no bad lie, thick rough or any such problem to interfere with the swing. Here then is the ideal situation to go ahead and execute the golf swing in the proper manner.

The object of the driver is to propel the ball as far as possible to a position on the fairway which will set you up for your next shot, and in most cases, if you have done the job properly, you will be aiming for the green. Unfortunately far too many weekend golfers change their personalities as soon as they step onto the tee. From the moment they take the driver in their hands they become power crazy, they have but one desire, to hit the ball with everything they've got. This invariably sets into motion a disastrous chain of event. They swing back too quickly, destroying their rhythm and running their timing. Now having lost their control, they hit wildly at the ball with little, if any accuracy. If luck's with them the ball lands on the fairway, but the odds are it will finish up somewhere in the rough. This is both pointless and silly, for when you put your tee shot into the rough, a bunker or any such hazard, you are facing two problems: getting out of the trouble-and trying to reach the green. The golden rule to remember when you step onto the tee obsessed with the thought of driving the ball out of sight is this:

IF YOU WANT TO HIT IT FARTHER...DON'T TRY TO HIT IT HARDER...HIT IT BETTER.

City inspects areas for carbon monoxide

Mayor Dana G. Rinehart has announced that Carbon Monoxide Prevention Week will continue through Nov. 30, according to a news release from the city's Jobs Development Dept.

The purpose of the week is to increase public awareness of the dangers of carbon monoxide and warning signals about which the public should know.

Inspectors from the city's division of development regulation will be going door-to-door offering carbon monoxide tests of gas-filled appliances and inspecting vents and chimneys.

The city areas to be inspected during the week include:

-- a two block area east and west of N. High St., running north of W. 5th Ave. to Hudson St.

-- an area north of Hudson St., east of the interstate. West of Cleveland Ave. and south of Weber Rd.

-- an area east of Parsons Ave., north of Obetz Rd., west of Lockbourne Rd., and south of Hillock Rd.

The one week inspection drive started in 1958. Between 1959 and 1981, yearly monoxide poisonings decreased from 17 deaths and 141 hospitalizations to no death and two hospitalizations, according to the news release.

The city offers free carbon monoxide testing on a year-around basis. For information call 222-7260, on weekdays, between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Emergency calls after 5 p.m. on weekdays, weekends or holidays, should be directed to the division of fire, 221-2345.

VALLEY DALE MURDER

Stan Washington pleads guilty to aggravated assault charge

A Columbus man pleaded guilty Nov. 16 to an aggravated assault charge in the Dec. 22, 1983 shooting death of William Floyd O'Neal, 40, of Newark, Ohio. Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Paul Martin ordered a pre-sentence investigation on Stanley Wash-ton, who had originally been charged with aggravated robbery and involuntary manslaughter in the case.

Stanley faces a maximum of 18 months in prison. Sentencing is expected in about 30 days, according to spokesman for the Franklin County Prosecutor.

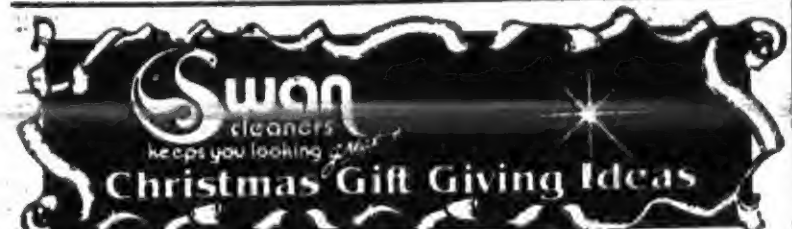

He is one of three persons charged in the murder of O'Neal. His brother, Joseph Washington, 27, of 3314 Bodman Dr. was sentenced Oct. 30 to life in prison. He escaped a possible death sentence when a Franklin County Common Pleas Court jury found him guilty of aggravated murder, but acquitted him of a death penalty specification.

He will be eligible for a parole in 23 years. O'Neal was found fatally shot in a parking lot behind the Valley Dale Ballroom, at 1590 Sunbury Rd.

A third co-defendant, Mary Frances Gallagher, 27, of the Berrell Avenue address, will be sentenced Nov. 26. She has pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and aggravated robbery charges. Gallagher is the widow of a slain Cleveland police officer, according to records.

Ohio LOTTO

NOW TWO DRAWINGS. WEDNESDAY & SATURDAY.

Now Wednesdays are for winners too... because OhioLotto has added a jackpot drawing to the middle of the week! So now you have two chances to win!

You can play Lotto as usual for Saturday's jackpot drawing... then play it again for Wednesday! If no one has matched the six winning numbers, the jackpot builds for the next drawing. And you don't have to wait a whole week to see if you've hit that big Lotto jackpot!

The wagers you place from 7:25PM Saturday until 7:25PM Wednesday are for Wednesday's drawing. Wagers placed from 7:25PM Wednesday until 7:25PM Saturday are for the Saturday drawing.

Try your luck at OhioLotto twice a week! And look for the jackpot drawings every Saturday and Wednesday evening at 7:29.

You could be an OhioLotto Wednesday winner, too!

"No matter how you pick your numbers, now you can win twice a week!"
